

ACTIVITY: Surfing

CASE: GSAF 2016.09.17.b

DATE: Sunday September 17, 2016

LOCATION: The incident took place at Bunkers, a popular surf spot on the Samoa Peninsula in Humboldt Bay, Eureka, Humboldt County, California, USA.

NAME: Yuma

DESCRIPTION: Male

BACKGROUND

ENVIRONMENT: Local Surfrider Foundation Chair Delia Bense-Kang said “September onward into December is our sharkiest time of year with lots of bait in the water, seal pups, lots of activity, and that’s when the sharks are coming through.”

TIME: Afternoon.

NARRATIVE: Yuma was surfing near the south jetty when h

INJURY: No injury, but the surfer’s wetsuit and board were bitten.

SPECIES: White shark

SOURCE: Lost Coast Outpost, September 18, 2016

<https://lostcoastoutpost.com/2016/sep/18/surfer-attacked-great-white-shark-near-south-jetty/>

© Ralph Collier, 2016. All rights reserved. This report may not be abridged or reproduced in any form without written permission of the author.

CASE INVESTIGATOR: Ralph Collier

Yuma examines his surfboard

© Ralph Collier, 2016. All rights reserved. This report may not be abridged or reproduced in any form without written permission of the author.

© Ralph Collier, 2016. All rights reserved. This report may not be abridged or reproduced in any form without written permission of the author.